YORBA LINDA – Orange County Girl Scouts celebrated the organization's 98th birthday on Saturday with cake, dancing and recycled art.

"Girl Scouts Go Green" was the theme of this years' celebration at the Nixon Presidential Library & Museum – former First Lady Nixon shares a birthday with the scouts and marking her birthda was part of the celebrations.

Several local companies and environmental experts gave demonstrations and talks about sustainability and renewable en Scouts also learned about composting, endangered species and were able to work toward environmentally-themed badges. There were also arts and crafts.

The annual celebration is organized by the Girl Scouts of Yorba Linda. Next year's theme will be "celebrating differences".
